

How we can help the person you care about

Every case is assessed by our Prevent officers who work with other organisations to put the best plan in place to support the person. This can mean the right support is provided by a charity, your local authority or someone who works in health or education. In most cases there isn't any need for ongoing police involvement.

“

Don't ignore the small changes, because by the time you realise the danger it will be a bigger problem to deal with. Just start the conversation. Trust your instincts.

”

Family member of someone supported through Prevent

It could be nothing, but what if it isn't? It can feel very scary to think someone close could be head

head.9.t c BDC m rnsd JET c ET9 n DC BT
